Harvey Nash Acquires TechDiscovery Move Marks Milestone for U.S. Group

WAYNE, NJ -- Harvey Nash USA (www.harveynashusa.com), a global search and professional talent solutions firm, announced today the acquisition of TechDiscovery, LLC, an Atlanta-based IT solutions and consulting firm. The move significantly strengthens Harvey Nash's position in the IT professional services arena in the U.S.

TechDiscovery, founded in 1999, specializes in business-focused IT solutions, including development, deployment, integration and maintenance of applications for world-class companies. The TechDiscovery offering complements Harvey Nash's current suite of IT services, which includes executive search, staffing, infrastructure support and offshore application development solutions.

The combined company will offer a full range of technology services to clients seeking IT business solutions and software development. The acquisition brings together both onshore and offshore software development capabilities enabling the combined company to provide a "rightshore" solution based completely on client needs. The two firms already share several major clients where they are working together to provide fully outsourced application management and technology consulting services.

TechDiscovery employs a full-time staff of seasoned technology professionals that have significant experience in areas such as software architecture and design, project management and data warehousing/business intelligence. In 2006, the company generated $7 million in annual revenue.

"Harvey Nash USA with the acquisition of TechDiscovery is now a comprehensive IT services provider providing one-stop shopping for all clients' IT talent requirements by providing expert delivery of application, infrastructure, staffing and consulting solutions to IT departments nationwide," said Robert J. Miano, Harvey Nash USA

President. "The U.S. Group is the fastest growing division in the Harvey Nash global network."

"Our TechDiscovery clients will reap the benefits of a broader service offering as we merge with Harvey Nash USA," said Stan Anderson, TechDiscovery Managing Partner. "Our reputation for delivering world class custom software applications for companies in Atlanta and across the U.S. brings another level of benefit to Harvey Nash, while Harvey Nash's broad portfolio of services allows us to offer additional capabilities to our clients. We are truly excited with today's announcement."
